Product description

Some things are just more sustainable than others and as conscious consumers know, colorful labels and big marketing campaigns often distract from the real facts.

A coffee farm which lies in the shade of the rainforest, where cattle grazes and no hunting or deforestation is allowed is by far more sustainable than any promise made by a green label. Nevertheless this coffee is Rainforest Alliance certified, and the farm owners are committed to plant additional trees, which will bring more shade and wind reduction to attract wildlife.

Sounds reassuring, than try a cup of Nicaragua Los Placeres Fincas Mierisch.

Cupping notes: stone fruits, plum, toffee
SCA score: 83,5
